

Students of the Month

The Renaissance Committee is proud to Announce that the Students of the Month

Of December are:
Amy Gleason and Joe Owens

Amy is extremely intelligent yet modest. Every time she shares in class she moves the class forward. Her work outside of class is exemplary and she goes above and beyond instead of confining herself to what will simply “get her by.” Amy’s countenance is refreshing as a kind, polite person who respects those around her.

Joe has demonstrated quality work and leadership abilities in and out of the classroom. Joe works well with others in group activities and also is polite and respectful towards his classmates and employees at our job sites during the week. Joe is a hard worker, listens well, and continues to want to improve each day.
